VOTE FAVORS PURCHASE

Two hundred and fifty out of two hundred and fifty-four votes cast at the Tropico District election Tuesday showed that the people want the lighting system.

But—the voting strength of this district is about 900, and only 255 took enough interest to cast their ballots.

The purchase can not be consummated, however, until certain preliminaries have cleared the way. These will include the securing of permission from the Railroad Commission, and after that the sale of the bonds.

Should the Southern California Edison Company be willing to take the bonds of the district in payment for their system, the transfer of ownership would be simple. Should they be unwilling to do so, other purchasers for the bonds would have to be found and that might not be immediately possible, in the opinion of Clerk Sherer, under the war conditions which prevail at this time. Under the best conditions the consummation of the sale can hardly be effected in less time than two months from the date of the election.

LAUDS AMERICAN SOLDIER

John B. Howarth, a Y. M. C. A. war work secretary in Paris, writes that the center at which he is stationed, accommodations for 3500 men are at hand, that Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has charge of fifty women workers, and F. S. Edmonds, a Philadelphia lawyer, looks after the business affairs. He says the American soldiers are clean, cheerful, wholesome fellows, and an army any nation might be proud to claim.

MORE ELECTIONS

As will be seen in another place in this paper, an election has been called for July 9th, to elect 15 "freeholders" or citizens whose duty it will be to draw up a charter under which our city will be governed.

This looks like a very unnecessary proceeding at this time. We are getting along very nicely under the regular rules for cities of this class, and why not "let well enough alone?"

After these 15 have worked and planned, then we must have another election, as to whether we will adopt the proposed charter or not. Then, if adopted, another election to elect the new officers called for in this special charter. Elections are expensive, and in these times of conservation, we think this one decidedly a luxury. Call a halt, Mr. City Dads, and conserve the city's expenses as well as the individual's.

INCOME TAX

Collector of Internal Revenue John P. Carter has just received instructions from the Honorable Commissioner of Internal Revenue to call the attention of Income Taxpayers to that provision of the law which provides that U. S. Treasury Certificates of Indebtedness may be accepted in payment of income and excess profits taxes.

It is very much desired that those who have such taxes to pay by June 15th, and who may now have Certificates of indebtedness in their possession, use these certificates to pay their income taxes, instead of making payment by cash or check. If taxpayers have no Certificates of Indebtedness at the present time, it is requested that they make arrangement with their bank to purchase enough to pay their taxes, in whole or in part.

Accrued interest at rate of four per cent will be paid on the certificates from the date of issue up to and including the day when they are turned in to the Government in payment of taxes.

If the plan above suggested is observed by taxpayers, the necessity on the part of the Government of having to redeem these certificates when they fall due will be obviated, and the taxpayer who observes the suggestion will be rendering a patriotic service to the Government at the present time, and specially so if the tax is paid before due date.

Respectfully,

JOHN P. CARTER,

Collector.

WANT ANNEXATION CALL

A petition signed by P. S. McNutt and eleven others asks that the City Trustees call a special election to ascertain if the residents of Sycamore and Scholl Canyons and other adjacent territory northeast of Glendale desire to be annexed to Glendale.

NEW K. OF C. CHAPTER

A new chapter of the Knights of Columbus has been formed in Glendale. The organization was effected at the home of H. M. Doll, 877 South Louise street, and resulted in the admission of 59 charter members. An official confirmation from the grand lodge, Knights of Columbus, is expected.

SOLDIER BOYS

Go Through Glendale on Way to Camp

Wednesday afternoon the people of Glendale were given the opportunity of seeing the boys of the 143rd pass through Glendale on their way to Camp Kearny. There were many Glendale boys with the 143rd, which made the passing through Glendale all the more pleasing.

They came here from Burbank on their way from Universal City, and made camp in Pasadena at Brookside Park on Wednesday night.

BIGGEST SAILOR IN U. S. NAVY 6 FEET, 7 INCHES

GREAT LAKES, Ills., June 3—The biggest sailor "in captivity" has arrived at the naval training station.

He is Daniel W. Hagin, from Northwestern University, and is six feet and seven inches tall.

The above Associated Press item in Monday's Evening Express will be of especial interest to many of our readers, as Dan Hagin, with his father, mother and two sisters were well-known residents of Glendale, having lived here for several years, and left for the east only about a year ago.

Dan was a student at Glendale Union High, and while there was a member of the basketball team, where it was a common saying that "Dan didn't have to throw the ball, he only had to stand up straight and drop it into the basket." His many friends here wish him "good luck" with the sailor boys.

JUMPS TO HIS TASK

John Masfield, the English poet and playwright, says that he has seen a Y. M. C. A. man in France ladling out hot coffee to the men in a dug-out where his predecessor had been killed only half an hour before.

NO ATHEISTS AT FRONT

Rev. R. B. Hummel, pastor of Fruitvale Presbyterian Church, who is in France as a Y. M. C. A. secretary, writes that there are no atheists in the trenches. "Before bullets and death," he writes, "men turn to God and find him."

PROCEEDINGS OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees met in regular session at the City Hall at 8:15 p. m., June 6, 1918. All members present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and of the adjourned meeting of June 4th were read and approved.

The order of business was suspended to give an opportunity to members of the Chamber of Commerce who were present to express themselves in regard to the proposed charter election.

Mr. A. T. Cowan, President of the Chamber of Commerce, addressed the Board, stating that the committee was present for the purpose of obtaining information in regard to the necessity for the new charter at this time. He called upon Mr. Roy L. Kent, Acting Secretary, to read from the minutes of the meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce on the previous evening, an account of the action taken at that meeting in reference to the subject. The Chairman of the Board stated that in answer to a call to attend the meeting, he had been present and was familiar with the proceedings, and had advised those interested to appear before the Board of Trustees and discuss the matter.

Mr. Lilly asked for information as to any limitations in the present law which might be remedied in a charter. Trustee Muhleman explained that some of the features of the law governing sixth class cities are not adapted to the requirements of a rapidly growing city.

Mr. C. L. Chandler, referring to the proceedings at the Chamber of Commerce Meeting, stated that the idea seemed to prevail that the adoption of a charter would increase the expense of city government, which idea was probably the first consideration in opposition to the proposed election, a second being the fact that there seems to be no present demand on the part of the people for the measure.

Mr. Frederick Baker stated that the proposition involves three elections, and he was of the opinion that while the public mind is so greatly occupied at present on other and more important work looking toward the winning of the war, the time is inopportune, and that the public would not give it the attention it deserves. He stated that while a new charter would not necessarily increase municipal expenses, it is yet a fact that in other cities the adoption of a charter has invariably had this result. He believes that at present, the necessities of the nation have the first call upon all our citizens.

Mr. Davis spoke in favor of a charter, maintaining that there is no good reason why a city the size of Glendale should cling to an outgrown system of government.

Mr. N. C. Wells stated that he had come to the meeting favoring the charter, but the arguments of Mr. Baker had caused him to doubt the expediency of it at the present time, and he desired further information. Mr. Wattles acknowledged the weight of the argument that the winning of the war is the paramount thing at the present time, but in his opinion, it is unwise to give up our local activities, and believes that Glendale should adopt a form of government sufficient for our needs, believing that the public would support the proposition.

In answer to the question, Mr. Baker stated that he objected strongly to a charter at the present time, because it would be very likely to involve a change in the personnel of the city government, and possibly remove men who are giving excellent service.

Mr. John Robert White, Jr., stated that he had come to the meeting with an open mind to back up the trustees in their effort to procure a new charter, but he was impressed by Mr. Baker's arguments, and wished to be further informed.

Mr. J. S. Thompson, former chairman of the Board of Trustees, testified as to the limitations of the law governing sixth class cities, and believed that in many ways a charter would be more satisfactory.

Trustee Shaw stated that the preparation of the charter by the Committee would probably occupy the months of July, August and September, and that a vote on its final adoption need not come off until December. He favored the Commission and City Manager form of government, and believed the City Manager should have more power; the trustees find it difficult under the present law to accomplish some things which are necessary.

Mr. Cowan spoke against unnecessary agitation at the present time.

In answer to a question, the City Attorney expressed the opinion that as the election had been called by the Trustees independently without any petition requesting the same, the whole proceedings would die naturally if for any reason no election should be held on the 9th of July as had been announced.

Mr. Roy L. Kent expressed the belief that the present is not the proper time to take up this matter; many citizens of Glendale finding their time fully taken up in public work, and he thought it questionable whether fifteen men adapted to doing the work of forming the charter could be found who would give it their time and attention for the next two or three months.

Mr. Franklin expressed himself as well pleased with the present management of the city government, and Matinee at 2:30, two evening shows, 7:00 and 8:45.

ELKS WILL SELL CHANCES ON PARKER LOT FOR RED CROSS

The committee appointed at last week's meeting of the Elks to devise ways and means of disposing of the lot turned over to the Lodge by Ezra Parker to be sold for the Red Cross, reported Monday night. Cameron D. Thom, chairman of the committee, announced that he with the other members Roy L. Kent and Dr. J. L. Flint, had discussed the matter and had conferred with Mr. Parker, who had turned over the deed for the property. The committee decided they could realize the greatest sum from the lot by selling chances. While some might object to this under other circumstances, the committee felt there could be no objection in this case, when it is considered that all of the proceeds go to the cause for which we are all working. The committee plans to sell as many tickets in Glendale as possible, all of the money received to go to the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross. When Glendale has been thoroughly canvassed, tickets will be sent to Elks clubs in other communities, the revenue derived by these clubs to go to their local Red Cross work.

The committee's report received the sanction of the lodge. Albert D. Pearce and John Roman were added to the committee.

PREEMAN-MacMULLIN

Miss Aileen Preeman and Smith Lyon MacMullin, both of this city, were united in marriage Monday afternoon at four o'clock, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White, 1431 West Third street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. E. Edmonds.

Following a wedding supper the young couple left for a short honeymoon. They will reside in San Pedro, where Mr. MacMullin is employed.

HONOR MRS. MERRIT W. LUDDEN

Mrs. Merritt W. Ludden of 243 El Bonita avenue was guest of honor at a surprise party given by ladies of the Tropico Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. Frank Ashton, 120 West Park avenue, last Friday afternoon. The Ashton home was beautifully decorated with pink roses, and about forty-five guests were present. Small cakes and tea were served by Misses Annie and Fannie Collingsworth. Mr. Ludden is engaged in Y. M. C. A. work at the aviation camp near Riverside, where Mrs. Ludden is going that she may be near her husband. She has leased her home to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Pomona.

Mrs. Ludden was also the guest of honor at the final meeting for the year of the U. and I. club, held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Florence Blair, 311 Gardena avenue. On this occasion Mrs. Ludden was presented with a basketfull of small bouquets, one from each member of the club, and the basket in addition held a box containing a handsome handmade lace handkerchief, a little farewell souvenir from the club of more lasting beauty than the flowers. Refreshments and decorations were in the national colors, the favors being small flags. Mrs. C. T. Van Etten assisted Mrs. Blair in entertaining.

Mrs. Ludden left Saturday for Riverside.

LOUIS BADDOUR

Louis Baddour suddenly passed away at his home, 1003 Maple avenue, Saturday, June 1st, at the age of 26 years. Mr. Baddour was a shoemaker by trade, and had only lived in Glendale a couple of months. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning, and were conducted by Rev. W. E. Edmonds. Interment was made in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

would favor the adoption of a charter of the condition of the affairs of the country were different than they are, but doubted the wisdom of going ahead at the present time.

Mr. Lilly brought up in connection with the debate the question of telephone rates between Glendale and Los Angeles, and expressed the opinion that the money necessary to be expended for the three charter elections could be better applied in paying the expenses of a campaign in opposition to the proposed increase of rates by the Telephone Company.

In connection with this matter, the clerk read a resolution adopted by the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting of the previous evening, as follows:

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, it was ordered that the Board of Trustees comply with the request contained in the resolution just read, and that a public meeting to discuss the matter of the proposed increase in telephone rates be called in the near future.

The City Attorney stated that the city had already taken legal action in the matter, and that a hearing before the Railroad Commission was set for June 25th next. Discussion ensued as to the means to be adopted for advertising the proposed mass meeting, so that a good attendance at the meeting might be assured, and a motion of Trustee Jackson was adopted, that the Chairman appoint a committee of five citizens of the community to take up the matter of a public meeting and have charge of the arrangements of the same, the Board of Trustees assuming the expense of advertising, etc., to an extent not to exceed $25.00; by the following roll call:

AYES: Henry, Jackson, Muhleman, Shaw, Woodberry.

NOES: None.

The chairman appointed the following committee:

S. N. Clark
A. T. Cowan
Frederick Baker
W. C. Wattles
E. K. Barnes

Chief Langford of the Fire Department appeared before the Board and made a statement in regard to the hose delivered by the American La France Company contrary to the terms of the contract, as understood by the Trustees and himself, and as set forth in the minutes of the Board. Ex-Chairman J. S. Thompson testified as to his recollection of the matter, confirming the transaction as set forth in the minutes. On motion of Trustee Shaw, the City Manager was instructed to notify the parties who had delivered this hose at the fire house, to take it away, as not in accordance with the contract; by the following roll call:

AYES: Henry, Muhleman, Shaw, Woodberry.

NOES: None.

Mr. Thompson stated that the citizens of Ruth Avenue and vicinity had requested him to present to the Board the question of car fare as charged by the Pacific Electric Company. On motion, the matter was referred to the City Manager.

Demands were presented and referred to the Finance Committee.

Reports were presented from the Tax Collector, Treasurer, City Clerk and Health Officer, and on motion ordered to be filed and given consideration at the next meeting.

A communication was presented by the City Attorney stating that the suits against Newport et al., involving water rights in Verdugo Canyon, have been continued to October 14th. He requested that the manager of the Public Service Department or Health Officer be instructed to take samples of water from certain designated points on the 1st and 15th days of each month. On motion of Trustee Shaw, it was ordered that the request of the City Attorney be complied with, and the matter turned over to the Health Officer to act in accordance with the request.

On motion of Trustee Henry, the City Attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance rescinding Ordinance No. 333, entitled, "An Ordinance of the City of Glendale calling a special election of the qualified electors of said city for the purpose of electing a Board of fifteen free-holders to prepare and propose a charter for said City; by the following roll call:

AYES: Henry, Muhleman, Shaw, Woodberry.

NOES: None.

RED CROSS CARNIVAL REPORT

Following is a financial report of the Carnival given by the Tropico Red Cross on May 18th. This report was not published last week for the reason that it was not complete. The amount after each booth is net, and is what was taken in at that particular booth after all expenses had been paid.

Supper, $116.53; Dance, $50.00; Confetti and Soda Pop, $47.75; Grab Bag, $24.50; Records Puzzle, $1.01; Vaudeville, $16.00; Candy, $21.42; Ice Cream, $18.04; Baby Marie Osborne, $16.25; P. E. O., $15.00; Fancy Work, $42.17; Hot Weiners, 24.92; Swat the Kaiser, $41.00; Coffee, $2.60; Tobacco, $11.09; Pies, $5.60; Queen Contest, $5.25; Concessions, $40.12; Big Red Cross (Donations), $7.50; Red Cross Booth, $18.95; Pop Corn, $8.00; Junior Red Cross, $35.00.

The above amounts make a total of $568.70. From this amount is to be deducted $66.70 for general expenses. This leaves a balance of $502.00, which is the amount cleared at the carnival.

On Memorial Day the Red Cross served refreshments at the Forest Lawn Memorial Park, and the sales from this netted them $50.00 profit.

Director General McAadoo, realizing that the payment of the full railroad fare means a serious hardship to our soldiers and sailors who desire to visit their homes before going overseas, has ordered that as soon as necessary details can be completed soldiers and sailors of the United States forces, when furloughed and traveling at their own expense, will be granted a rate of approximately one cent per mile. This fare will be available on delivery to ticket agents of certificates signed by commanding officers. Such certificates of standard form will be prepared and distributed with the utmost promptness.

CARING FOR SOLDIERS

Already in England the Y. M. C. A. is caring for wounded men, teaching them a trade or giving the heroes trained instruction so that they will be self supporting in spite of their injuries.

U. AND I. CLUB

At the last meeting of the U. and I. club, which took place at the home of Mrs. Florence Blair, 311 Gardena avenue, officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Miss Ida Myers, President.

Mrs. L. E. Richardson, Vice-President.

Mrs. S. M. Lang, Secretary.

Mrs. H. E. Fry, Treasurer.

BATHING SUIT FASHION SHOW, VENICE, JUNE 9

An all-pervading air of secrecy.

Whispered conferences behind closed doors.

Invasion of the sanctum sanctorum by personages on mysterious missions bent.

Cause? It has just leaked out.

The Bathing Suit Fashion Show.

Annual, and expected, though it is, the announcement always creates a tingle of anticipation, the realization of which is far and away beyond the greatest expectations.

Have you ever seen a Venice bathing parade? If not, there is a real thrill in store for you.

Such a bevy of classy maids! Such a display of bathing suits, fetching in design, alluring in make-up, riotous of color and fascinating as to model! And such a craning of necks to catch even a glimpse of the fair ones whom they adorn!

Down the broadwalk they riding come, girls, girls and girls, each one vieing with the other in the display of fashionable bathing toggery, until your head is in a whirl and your eyes are tired with the strain of watching this succession of bewitching beauty and charm passing before you in panoramic procession.

June 9 is the date that has been set for the Bathing Suit Show, and already requests are in from the anxious ones clamoring for entry slips in the big event that annually calls attention to Venice as the top-notch amusement city of the west.

We want to be helpful—not officious. We want your business—naturally. But we want you to take a genuine pleasure in doing business with us.

BASEBALL IN LONDON

Behind Eagle Hut, the American Y. M. C. A. building for American soldiers and sailors in London, baseball is played every day. Occasionally a window is broken, but that only makes it more homelike.

OATMEAL PIE CRUST

- 2 cups finely ground oatmeal
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tablespoon fat

Scald oatmeal with the water, add fat and mix thoroughly. Roll very thin and line small pie or tart tins with mixture. Bake in hot oven.

RICE IS A GOOD MIXER. It must be well cooked.

SAVORY RICE

You won't need any bread when you serve this.

- 1 cup rice with boiling water to cover well
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 piece green or red pepper
- 2 cups tomatoes
- 1 small onion

Wash and drain rice, add to boiling salted water and cook rapidly until soft. Drain. Each grain should be distinct. Cook tomatoes, onion and pepper 10 minutes. Add them to rice and steam 20 minutes.

Don't be afraid to use cooked rice if you are making bread. In corn bread it can be used in half and half proportion.

Every restaurant and public eating house in California that serves bread to customers unless the customer specifically requests it, is breaking the law and faces a penalty of having to close its place of business. The Food Administration regulations are very simple and very specific. No hotel, or public eating house, can ask a customer if he, or she, wishes bread, nor can they serve it to anyone unless it is specifically and voluntarily requested by the patron. In no case may more than two ordinary slices of bread be served to any one person at any meal. Where sandwiches are desired only two slices of bread may be served except in the case of a lunch to be eaten outside the restaurant where the full two ounce allowance of wheat products per meal per person may be used. This means that two sandwiches, each having two slices of bread, may be used. In order that this rule may be rigidly enforced Samuel Pond, of the Food Administration, will immediately begin a flying trip throughout the state, trying cases and sentencing those convicted. Pond will investigate dozens of cities in the state and violators of this rule will be heavily penalized.

Uncle Sam is today the quartermaster of a hungry world. He is playing the game squarely and counts on every American to do the same.

CHAPTER I.

I am a German soldier. Naturally at the time when the war started we did not know that there would be such a war as is being waged today.

Daily we soldiers were told that France and Russia wanted to attack us and that the kaiser was doing everything possible for our protection. Already on July 20 we were armed to the teeth and prepared to march away. During these preparations, which showed us all that war had to come, 18 men of my company deserted.

The government published, during this time, bulletins almost hourly to prepare the people for the war, a subterfuge that succeeded perfectly. Consequently two days before war was declared, the people were overwhelmingly for war, but they were certain that it was only to be between Germany and France.

Of the intervention of Belgium, Russia, England and Italy, the country had as little thought as it did of any participation of the United States. All thought only of the promenade to Paris, which, to the disappointment of the people, and also, surely to the disappointment of the autocracy, has been longer drawn out than had been wished for.

In these days of uncertainty the soldiers, contrary to the cruel treatment which they had experienced before, were treated liberally with great quantities of supplies, delicacies and beer, so that most of the soldiers were so drunk continuously that they were unable to realize the seriousness of the situation.

And yet the majority of the soldiers could not be enthused over the war. They cheered and were enthusiastic because they knew it was the orders. On July 31, 1914, one day before the declaration of war, we left, after being brought to war strength, for our garrison at Mainz-am-Rheine.

Where the enemy toward which we were to point our bayonets was we had not the slightest idea. All we did know was that we had to be transported somewhere to protect the border.

There were stirring times as we started out. Tens of thousands of people threw flowers at us and all wanted to shake hands. All—even soldiers—cried! Many embraced their wives or young brides. The bands played farewell songs and people laughed and cried all at the same time. Strangers embraced and kissed each other. "A veritable witch's holiday" of emotion was loosened and engulfed the populace like a storm. No one, not even the strongest, could resist its powers. Yet even this was surpassed by the leave-taking at the depot, where last farewells had to be said. This scene will never leave me! How desperately many women clung to their men! Many had to be forcibly removed.

But this was at last done and then we were placed in cattle cars. Night came and we had no lights. The train went slowly toward the Rhine. It went smoothly enough. Our company, which had had days of great excitement, welcomed the rest that the journey afforded. Most of the soldiers slept with their knapsacks as pillows. Others looked dreamily into the future. Still others secretly pulled pictures from their breastpockets and only a very few killed time by discussion and comment on their possible destination.

"Where are we going?" Yes, where? No one knew. Then after endless hours, the train stopped. We were in Duren. What were we there for? We did not know. The officers only shrugged their shoulders at our questions.

After a brief pause we went ahead. On the evening of August 1 we reached a farmyard near Duren. Our company was billeted in a barn. No one knew what we had to do. Ignorant of the purpose of our being sent so near the Belgian border we laid down on our beds of straw. Something had to happen soon to rescue us from this uncertainty.

How few suspected that would be the last night for many of us on German ground. An alarm took us from our beds at 3 a. m. The company gathered and the captain demonstrated the war situation. As to the direction of the march he himself was ignorant.

Scarcely half an hour later 50 big trucks drove up and stopped on the road before our quarters. The drivers also were ignorant and waited for orders. Discussion of our destination started afresh. The orderlies who had been keeping their ears open said we would enter Belgium that day. Others contradicted them, no one knew for certainty.

But the order to march did not come and in the evening we went back to our straw. But the rest was short. At 1 a. m. we were again aroused and moved by a speech from our captain. He said we were at war with Belgium. He told us to show ourselves brave, deserve the iron cross and bring honor to Germany. Then he continued:

"We only make war against the armed force, the Belgian army. Life and property of civilians are protected under international law. Yet you soldiers must not forget to keep your lives for the fatherland or sell them as dearly as possible. Unnecessary shedding of blood we will prohibit to the civilian population. Yet I ask you to consider that too much consideration borders on cowardice and that will be punished very severely."

After this speech of our captain we were loaded on our autos and at 4 a. m. crossed the border into Belgium. In order to make this a historical occasion we were ordered to give three cheers. On the speedy autos we reached our goal at 10 a. m. It was a beautiful little rural village. Inhabitants of the villages we had passed looked at us in astonishment, so that we all got the impression that these country people never knew why we came to Belgium. They were frightened out of their sleep and looked out at us from their windows.

As we halted and left our autos, the farmers came out and offered us coffee, bread, meat, etc. We were still without a field kitchen, so that we enjoyed the enemy's offerings more so since those of the better class of villagers refused any pay. They told us the Belgian soldiers had departed to some unknown destination.

After a short rest we marched on. The autos returned. Hardly had we marched an hour when we were overtaken by cavalry, dragoons and hussars, who reported that the Germans were marching all over the neighborhood on all roads. Right behind came the bicycle corps.

This was comforting. We no longer felt alone, isolated in a strange country. Another bicycle division overtook us and passed on. Angry words were now uttered by members of our company. The others could ride but we had to walk. What we had always taken for granted suddenly became great injustice. If it did no good our grumbling at least was a diversion from the weight of our packs.

The heat was oppressive. The sweat came from all pores. The new and stiff leather trappings rubbed us sore, especially upon our hips. It was a relief at 2 p. m. to halt at an abandoned farm and rest on the grass. We might have lain down about ten minutes when suddenly we heard firing. We jumped up like lightning and hurried to our guns. The firing which was about three kilometers away grew more lively. At once we were on the march again.

From the expressions on the faces of the soldiers we could read the minds of the men. Something took possession of them which they had never experienced before. As for myself I became very restless. Fright and curiosity lashed my brain. Everything whirled around in my head and my heart was beating wildly. But I strove to conceal my fright from my comrades. I am sure that I tried energetically. I don't know that I succeeded better than my companions.

Although I knew we would be in the fight in an hour, I tried to persuade myself that our interference would not be necessary. I clung tightly to everything which might strengthen this hope.

The bicycles lying in the road indicated that the bicycle division was in the fight at this point. How strong the enemy was we did not know as we raced toward the firing line. Everybody crouched down as low as possible while jumping to the right and left. Before and behind us the bullets were flying continuously, yet we reached the firing line without losses. We were greeted joyously by our hard-pressed comrades. The bicycle regiment had not suffered any losses except for a few slightly wounded men who were still able to take part in the fight.

We were lying flat on the ground and firing in the direction ordered for all we were worth, even though we had not seen our enemies. That was apparently not interesting enough to some of our soldiers. They wanted to know how the people were looking whom they had to shoot at. They got up to a kneeling position. Two men of my company had to pay for their curiosity with their lives almost instantly. The first victim of our party went down without a sound. The second threw his arms high in the air and fell on his back. Both were dead instantly.

It is impossible for me to describe the feeling that overcame me in the first real volley as we advanced and came directly within the range of the fire. I no longer felt any fright, only an impulse to get into action as quickly as possible. Yet at the sight of the first corpse a terrible fear seized me. For minutes I was completely stunned, lost all self-control and was absolutely unable to think or do anything.

I pressed my face and hands close to the ground. I wanted to clutch my gun and shoot blindly. Presently I calmed down. I suddenly became contented with myself and condition about me and when soon afterward the command was sounded along the whole line, "Spring out!" "Forward march!" I charged as did everyone else like one possessed. The order to halt followed. Like wet bags we plumped to the ground. Firing had begun anew.

Our firing now became more lively momentarily and increased to a fearful loudness. If we had occasion to say anything to our comrades we had to shout so loudly in their ears that it hurt our throats.

Under the effect of our fire the enemy grew restless, the fire weakened and his line wavered. As only 500 meters separated us from them we could observe exactly what happened there. We saw about half the enemy retire in the following manner: Every other man quit the line, leaving his alternate in his place. Those remaining held on until the retiring party halted. We used this moment to inflict the most severe losses on the retreating enemy. As far as we could scan the horizon to the right and left we saw the Germans advancing in several sectors. Also for our detachments the order came to advance as the enemy retreated.

The task of clinging to the heel of the retiring enemy so tenaciously that no time would be allowed to make a new stand fell to us. We followed the Belgians, scarcely stopping to breathe on the way, in order to prevent their fortifying themselves in a village situated just ahead. We knew that a bloody house-to-house fight lay before us, yet the Belgians never attempted to establish themselves, but managed to escape with astonishing cleverness.

In the meantime we received reinforcements. Our company was now pretty well scattered and fought with whatever unit was nearby. The body I joined had to remain in the village to search systematically for scattered soldiers. From this village we saw that the Germans had gained on all sides. Field artillery, machine gun detachments and other equipment arrived and we were all astonished at their coming so quickly.

But there was no time to be spent in speculation. With fixed bayonets we went from house to house, door to door, and while the results were negligible because we found no soldiers we did not come out quite empty-handed. We made the inhabitants deliver all guns and munitions and so forth in their possession. The mayor, accompanying the soldiers, explained, to every citizen that all found with arms after the search would be punished according to the rules of war and German rules of war in Belgium meant execution.

An hour might have passed when we were again aroused by the sound of artillery and gunfire. A new battle had begun. Whether the artillery was busy on both sides could not be judged from our village. The bombardment was tremendous. The ground shook from the growling and moaning that rolled backward and forward, always seeming to become stronger.

The ambulance columns now brought in the first wounded. Couriers sped by us. War had set in in all its phases.

Darkness came over us before we had finished our house-to-house search. We dragged all the mattresses, straw sacks and feather beds that we could lay our hands on, to the community school and church to care for the wounded. They were made as comfortable as possible. From other surrounding villages now came the first fugitives. They may have been marching, for they looked tired and utterly exhausted.

Women, old men and children were huddled together in one mass. They had saved nothing except their bare lives. In baby buggies or on wheelbarrows these unfortunates carried whatever the rude force of war had left them. In contrast to the fugitives, whom we had met before, these were extremely frightened, appearing to be in mortal terror of their enemy. Whenever they looked upon one of us German soldiers they cringed in terror.

How different these were from the inhabitants of the village where we had first stopped, who had met us in a friendly, even polite manner. We tried to learn the cause of this fright and discovered that the fugitives had witnessed in their village bitter street fighting. They had become acquainted with war—had seen their houses burning, had seen their little property destroyed and could not forget the sight of their streets filled with corpses and wounded.

It dawned upon us that not merely fear gave these people the appearance of hunted animals; there was also hatred toward the invaders who had fallen upon them and driven them from their homes by night.

In the evening we departed and tried to reach our own regiment. The Belgians had concentrated somewhere to the rear under cover of darkness. We were quite near the neighborhood of the fortified city of Liege. Many settlements through which we passed stood in flames; the inhabitants driven out, passed us in droves. Women, children and old men were buffeted about and seemed to be everywhere in the way. Without aims or plans, without a place on which to lay their heads these poor people dragged themselves

The Navy needs these "eyes" to derive the submarine of its sting and it has requested the California State Council of Defense to help it obtain them. Commissioning hundreds of new ships for naval service has created a demand for observation glasses far in excess of the present American output. The only way to insure an adequate supply while the manufacturers of lenses are speeding up production is by appealing to the patriotism of private owners.

The Government pays a nominal fee of $1.00 for each glass accepted and the donor is further rewarded by knowing that his patriotic contribution may be the means of saving thousands of troops in transport and also of saving much-needed shipping from destruction.

Old, scuffed telescopes or field glasses may possess first class lenses, so don't be chary about forwarding them regardless of appearance.
